QL2 Customer Base Doubles for Third Year Running

Customer renewals and focus on key verticals underpin QL2's ongoing success

SEATTLE, June 27, 2007 – QL2 Software today announced that it has doubled its customer base for the third year in a row. The company now has over 225 customers that use its real-time data extraction and integration solutions. The global customer base is spread throughout 38 countries and includes many Global 2,000 leaders in verticals such as financial services, retail, travel and pharmaceuticals.

"Our growth 100 percent year over year and our ongoing renewals from existing customers is the strongest validation that the market for our data extraction and integration solutions is solid and increasing," said Narry Singh, Executive Chairman of QL2 Software.

QL2 Software is the leading provider of data extraction and integration solutions that manage data from the Web as well as internal data stores. For enterprises across an array of industries, QL2 has delivered structured, actionable data to customers to arm them with the real-time business intelligence necessary to gain market insight and a competitive advantage.

"QL2's customers return because we deliver more actionable, reliable and real-time data that's critical to our customers success," said Greg Lauckhart, Chief Technology Officer of QL2 Software. "We see our real-time data services as critical in helping our customers gain deep insights into how their markets, products, channels and customers needs are evolving".
